

Choices and Decisions

Sometimes you gotta make a hard Decision.
Sometimes you just should have Listened.
It is only your children as home you are Missing.
And every night it is them you wish you were Kissing.
Sometimes you don't know if the choice you are making is Right,
But you don't take it Light.
And always put up a Fight.
Yes, No or I Might.
You think what is at the best interest of the baby in Flight.
You pray and beg that thing could and would be different.
If you just would of Listened.
So now you must make a big Choice.
If you cannot express it through writing, express it through your Voice.
Do not give up when things get Rough.
Or say I had Enough.
Challenge your pain and guilt, feel the Strain.
In the end if you Remain
Strong there is a positivity you can Gain.
Never let your pain drive you Insane.
Once again, deal with the pain, and be responsible on who you should really Blame.
Remember when it comes to make a decision for your unborn child
(It is not a Game.)

Keri-Ann
September 25, 2009

Keri Ann